APPLICATION FOR AUTHORIZATION TO INSTITUTE A CLASS ACTION
 (Articles 574 C.C.P. and following)

TO ONE OF THE HONOURABLE JUSTICES OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF QUEBEC, SITTING IN AND FOR THE DISTRICT OF MONTREAL, THE PLAINTIFF STATES THE FOLLOWING:

Introduction:

1. Plaintiff wishes to institute a class action on behalf of the following Group of which she is a member:

All residents of Canada (or subsidiarily Quebec), who own, owned, lease and/or leased one or more of the Subject Vehicles, or any other Group(s) or Sub-Group(s) to be determined by the Court;

(hereinafter referred to as the "Plaintiff(s)", the "Class Member(s)", the "Class", the "Group Member(s)", the "Group");

2. Defendant is a member of the Fiat Chrysler Automobiles N.V. (“FCA”) family of companies. Defendant has approximately 440 dealers and markets Chrysler, Jeep®, Dodge, Ram and FIAT brands, as well as the SRT performance vehicle designation, and it also distributes Alfa Romeo models and Mopar products (hereinafter collectively the “Brands”);
3. In addition to its assembly facilities, which produce the Chrysler Pacifica, Dodge Grand Caravan (Windsor), Chrysler 300, Dodge Charger and Dodge Challenger (Brampton), Defendant operates an aluminum casting plant in Etobicoke, a research and development center in Windsor, and has sales offices and parts distribution centers throughout the country;
4. FCA is an international automotive group and the seventh-largest automaker in the world based on total annual vehicle sales. FCA is listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol “FCAU” and on the Mercato Telematico Azionario under the symbol “FCA”;
5. Plaintiff communicates herewith an extract of the Defendant’s corporate website, as Exhibit R-1, and a copy of the Registraire des entreprises (CIDREQ) report on Defendant, as Exhibit R-2;
6. “Subject Vehicles” means all Fiat brand vehicle models, including without limitation all Fiat 500 and Abarth models, Plaintiff reserving the right to amend these proceedings to include any further makes or models from the Brands distributed by Defendant with similar or identical door hinge and/or door handle defects and/or malfunctions (as detailed more fully below);
7. At all material times, Defendant, directly and/or in conjunction with its related entities and/or parent companies, marketed, promoted, distributed, leased and sold the Subject Vehicles throughout Canada, including in the Province of Quebec;

The situation:

8. Since approximately 2011, Defendant has marketed, promoted, distributed, leased and sold the Subject Vehicles to Class Members, which were defectively designed and manufactured, namely with defective door hinges and/or defective door handle mechanisms;
9. Indeed, the door hinges and/or door handles of the Subject Vehicles are prone to stick and/or get jammed in which case the door cannot be opened from either inside or outside of the vehicle;
10. The said door handles usually first start to loosen, then get jammed shut and will finally end up breaking and falling off completely. When the handle starts to fail, the vehicle's door cannot be opened using either the automatic key or a manual key, and no amount of pulling on the handle will get the door open, whether from the inside or outside of the vehicle. This problem occurs on the driver's door, the passenger's door, or both doors;
11. This handle issue may be exacerbated by the weather, especially during cold Canadian winters. That being said, Class Members (as well as other owners or lessees of these same vehicles in other warmer countries around the world) have also experienced the same door handle failures and breaking during warm summer months as well;
12. Obviously, Defendant is and was well aware of the Canadian climate and its harsh winters when marketing and distributing the Subject Vehicles to Class Members;
13. When the door handle fails, gets jammed as mentioned or completely breaks or snaps off, the door handle must be replaced with a replacement door handle kit manufactured by Defendant (for the driver side, the passenger door, or both doors);

14. Each replacement handle costs approximately $400 installed, in parts and labor, plus applicable taxes. Class Members hereby claim from Defendant damages representing, and/or the reimbursement of, all amounts paid to repair or replace the Subject Vehicles' handles;
15. Finally, even if the broken handles are replaced with new replacement parts, these replacement parts manufactured by the Defendant are equally defective and the door handle failure issue is sure to reoccur again over time, as has been the case for many Class Members, including the Plaintiff, as mentioned below;
16. If it is the driver door that jams shut due to the defect, the driver is forced to enter and exit the vehicle from the passenger side or the hatchback trunk door, which is not only embarrassing and annoying, but also a serious safety and security risk. Indeed, in case of emergency such as fire, imminent collision, accident, etc., a driver must be able to quickly exit the vehicle, which Plaintiff and the other Class Members cannot accomplish in a timely fashion when their door handles malfunction and jam unexpectedly;
17. This important safety and security risk makes this door handle defect much more than a mere cosmetic annoyance or defect and this justifies the injunctive relief being sought herein, namely that Defendant be ordered to recall all Subject Vehicles in order to replace the doors handles (and related parts) with non-defective replacement handles and parts, failing which that Defendant be ordered to take back the Subject Vehicles and reimburse the Class Members;
18. Defendant has known about this issue for many years, since many Class Members have brought in their Subject Vehicle to Defendant's various dealers complaining of the issue and were told by Defendant's agents that there were no defects or recalls regarding the door and handle of the Subject Vehicles, that the door and/or handle simply needed lubrication, and/or that the Class Members were required to purchase new replacement door handles at their own expense since Defendant refused to replace the broken door handles free of charge ;

19. The Class Members have and/or will suffer a significant decrease in value (and/or resell value) of their Subject Vehicle unless a proper recall is announced in order to properly repair the Subject Vehicles with non-defective replacement door handles;

FACTS GIVING RISE TO AN INDIVIDUAL ACTION BY THE PLAINTIFF

20. Plaintiff is a litigation paralegal with over 30 years of experience (not working with or otherwise affiliated to the undersigned attorneys);
21. Plaintiff owns a 2012 Fiat 500 Lounge, vehicle identification number (VIN):
[REDACTED], which is depicted in the following picture:

22. Plaintiff purchased her said vehicle on October 19, 2017 from [REDACTED], the original and sole previous owner of said vehicle (the “Previous Owner”);
23. The Previous Owner had purchased the vehicle from the Fiat car dealership Trois Diamants Autos, in Mascouche, Quebec (“Trois Diamants”);
24. In November 2017, Plaintiff went to Trois Diamants to effect the change of ownership in the latter’s records, for the purposes of being informed of any future communications and recall notices regarding the vehicle;
25. In mid-December 2017, as soon as temperatures lowered mildly, the door handles of Plaintiff’s vehicle began exhibiting jamming problems, which prevented her from opening both the driver and passenger doors;
26. Unable to get into her vehicle, Plaintiff conducted research on the Internet to find out if this was a known problem and/or how to solve the issue;
27. Plaintiff was shocked and appalled to discover hundreds of threads and posts on online forums dedicated to the Fiat 500 door handle issue, confirming that this issue was a widespread and recurring problem;
28. Indeed, Plaintiff discovered multiple online forum communities discussing this Fiat 500 door handle issue in Canada, USA, UK and other countries where Fiat models are sold, extracts of which are communicated herewith, en liasse, as Exhibit R-3. The following are the URL’s to the said forums that Plaintiff found and consulted online:

  - <http://www.abarthforum.co.uk/500-abarth/recall-on-door-handle/>
29. There are no recalls affecting Plaintiff's vehicle, the whole as more fully appears from the recall search results on Defendant's website regarding Plaintiff's particular Vehicle Identification Number ("VIN"), communicated herewith as Exhibit R-4;
30. Plaintiff also learned (as mentioned above) that once the door handle(s) are "repaired" or replaced by the Defendant or its related agents or dealerships, or via a private mechanic, the same problem will reoccur, requiring further "repairs" and/or replacements with new but equally-defective door handle mechanism kits sold by or through Defendant;
31. On December 14, 2017, unable to enter her vehicle, Plaintiff called Defendant a first time to apprise them of her door handle issue, and to enquire about any national recall campaign regarding this widespread problem;
32. The Defendant's representative over the telephone was dismissive of Plaintiff's issue, informing Plaintiff that there has been no recall regarding the door handle issue and stating that Plaintiff "should not believe everything she reads on the Internet". The representative suggested that Plaintiff have her door handles replaced through a Fiat dealership, at Plaintiff's expense, of course, since the car was no longer under warranty and Fiat does not admit any liability regarding the door handle problem;
33. In the following days, the passenger door of Plaintiff's vehicle would sometimes jam and sometimes open although the driver side door remained jammed shut.

Plaintiff was therefore forced to enter and exit her vehicle from the passenger door, on those few days said door would open, representing not only an embarrassing annoyance but a serious security risk as mentioned above;

34. Once seated, Plaintiff would try to open her driver door from the inside of the vehicle, but it would not open. The interior door handle was just as jammed shut from the inside as it was from the outside, due to the defects affecting the Subject Vehicles' door and/or door handle mechanisms;
35. Considering Plaintiff's need to drive back and forth to work and attend various personal appointments outside her regular work hours, and not being able to afford to take taxis for so many daily travels, Plaintiff was forced to continue entering and exiting her vehicle from the passenger door, whenever possible, which as mentioned is embarrassing, annoying and hazardous. The winter months, which bring bulky clothes, snow, mud and sludge, make these maneuvers in a particularly confined space even more unpleasant and unacceptable;
36. Plaintiff's passenger door only managed to open for a few days in mid-December 2017 until the temperatures lowered drastically again, when Plaintiff was once again completely locked out of her vehicle;
37. Discouraged and frustrated, Plaintiff was forced to resort to alternative means to get to and from work and appointments, namely using costly taxis;
38. On January 3, 2018, Plaintiff once again contacted Defendant by telephone to express her outrage and to ask for Defendant to immediately repair her immobilized vehicle. The Defendant's agent named "Veronica" replied that Defendant is not responsible for the door handles issue Plaintiff was experiencing and suggested that Plaintiff contact her closest Fiat dealership to schedule a service appointment;

39. During this client services call, Plaintiff obtained the Fiat Case Number 33146995 for the call, and was asked to call back while at the dealership, after the vehicle had been examined (Defendant being summoned to communicate and file all notes and documents related to Plaintiff's vehicle in general and the above Fiat Case Number in particular);
40. On that same day of January 3, 2018, Plaintiff immediately called Trois Diamants to obtain an urgent service appointment, which was only scheduled for January 5, 2018;
41. On January 5, 2018, Plaintiff brought in her Fiat 500 to said dealership's service department for inspection. The said service department refused to confirm the defect and refused to replace the door handles, indicating that both door handles were functional and not broken;
42. Plaintiff immediately voiced her anger and safety concerns related to not being able to enter and exit her vehicle on most days. The Defendant's service representative simply dismissively replied "well, we are in winter", implying that this serious door jamming issue was somehow to be expected and was acceptable during winter months (which it is not);
43. Plaintiff then called back Defendant's representative, Veronica, while still at the Trois Diamants service department. The Trois Diamants representative spoke to Veronica using Plaintiff's cellular telephone, and Plaintiff heard the service representative suggesting that the doors only be lubricated;
44. After returning the cellular telephone back to Plaintiff, Veronica informed Plaintiff that Defendant would not assist her with any current or future repairs involving the door handles, including the diagnostic work and suggested lubrication job, because Plaintiff's vehicle is no longer under warranty and reiterating that Defendant does not acknowledge any manufacturer defect regarding the door handles;

45. The Trois Diamants service department then proceeded to said lubrications on Plaintiff's vehicle, indicating to Plaintiff that she was being charged the labor for the diagnostic and lubrication work (together with the labor charged for another unrelated repair to the trunk area of the vehicle);
46. The very next day, the problem reoccurred on both doors of Plaintiff's vehicle, Plaintiff not being able to open either door;
47. On January 7, 2018, Plaintiff contacted the Previous Owner to inquire whether she had ever experienced problems with the door handles and the Previous Owner confirmed for the first time that she had indeed experienced the same problem;
48. In fact, the Previous Owner indicated that she had been forced to change the driver-side door handle, with original parts manufactured by the Defendant but installed by her private mechanic, approximately 3 ½ years prior, after the door handle had broken off in her hand. The Previous Owner also confirmed that the passenger door handle had also broken off and that she had similarly changed it in February 2016;
49. On January 16, 2018, Plaintiff called and left a message for the same Trois Diamants service representative with whom she had dealt with on January 5, 2018, in order to once again discuss the defective door handles and her continued inability to use her car;
50. On January 17, 2018, the Trois Diamants service representative called Plaintiff back and refused to replace the door handles, unless Plaintiff herself paid for the repairs, the whole notwithstanding the previous failure of the lubrication of the doors;
51. Plaintiff has since not been able to use her vehicle on any regular basis, especially during the present very cold winter months. She has already incurred over $200 in unexpected taxi and metro travel expenses, sauf à parfaire, for

- which she holds Defendant fully liable;
52. On January 17, 2018, Plaintiff created a Facebook page pertaining to this Fiat door handle issue and was immediately contacted by many other Class Members experiencing the same issues and door handle failures, the whole as more fully appears from extracts of said Facebook page, communicated herewith as Exhibit R-5, en liasse;
  53. In this regard, Plaintiff has already been able to compile a list of twenty-four (24) Class Members, all experiencing the same door jamming problems and/or door handles breaking or snapping off in their hands, some of whom have provided their contact information, vehicle model, pictures, and certain comments as to when their door handles failed or broke and when they had them replaced, the whole as more fully appears from Plaintiff's said list of Class Members and pictures, communicated herewith, as though recited at length herein, confidentially and under seal for privacy concerns, as Exhibit R-6;
  54. As appears from Exhibit R-6, Class Members have experienced the same failing door handle defect at different times, and some at multiple times, whether during summer months or winter months, and some experienced the problem earlier in their ownership of the vehicle and some very recently;
  55. Had Plaintiff and the Class Members known of this serious design defect and serious safety issue, they would not have purchased or leased their Subject Vehicles;
  56. As mentioned, the value and resell value of the Subject Vehicles has and will be negatively affected by this unresolved and serious defect;

57. On January 21, 2018, Plaintiff noticed a Subject Vehicle parked in a commercial parking lot with a broken door handle (as stated above). Plaintiff does not know who owns or leases that particular vehicle, but she took the following picture in order to further fulfil her burden herein:

58. Plaintiff is clearly concerned and troubled by the discoveries mentioned above, propelled by her ongoing and still unresolved door handle issues. She therefore contacted the undersigned attorneys in order to institute the present class action proceedings on Plaintiff's behalf and on behalf of the Class Members;

FACTS GIVING RISE TO AN INDIVIDUAL ACTION BY EACH OF THE MEMBERS OF THE GROUP

59. Each Class Member has purchased or leased a Subject Vehicle;
60. Plaintiff's and the Class Members' consent when purchasing or leasing the Subject Vehicle was vitiated as a result of the discovery of this serious defect and security risk, as described hereinabove;

61. Plaintiff and the Class Members would not have purchased or leased the Subject Vehicle had they been made aware of the defects mentioned above;
62. Class Members have paid to repair and/or replace their Subject Vehicle's door handles, for which the Class Members claim reimbursement and/or damages from Defendant;
63. The safety of the current owners or lessees of the Subject Vehicles is at risk due to this serious defect, as mentioned above;
64. Defendant's above-detailed deceitful actions and malicious intention to refuse to recall and repair the Subject Vehicles, notwithstanding widespread comments and complaints by Class Members and the Plaintiff, show an intentional, malicious, oppressive and/or high-handed conduct that represents a marked departure from ordinary standards of decency when dealing with customers. In that event, punitive damages should be awarded to Plaintiff and Class Members, independently from the compensable damages claimed by Plaintiff and the Class Members;

CONDITIONS REQUIRED TO INSTITUTE A CLASS ACTION

65. The composition of the Group makes it difficult or impracticable to apply the rules for mandates to sue on behalf of others or for consolidation of proceedings (Article 575 (3) C.C.P.) for the following reasons:
66. Plaintiff is unaware of the specific number of persons who purchased the Subject Vehicles, however, it is safe to estimate that it is in the hundreds if not thousands across the country, Plaintiff having already and very quickly compiled the Exhibit R-6 list of 24 Class Members;

67. Class Members are numerous and are scattered across the entire province and country;
68. In addition, given the costs and risks inherent to litigation before the Courts, many people will hesitate to institute an individual action against the Defendant. Even if the Class Members themselves could afford such individual litigation, the Court system could not handle it as it would be overloaded. Further, individual litigation of the factual and legal issues raised by the conduct of the Defendant would increase delay and expense to all parties and to the Court system;
69. Moreover, a multitude of actions instituted risk leading to contradictory judgments on questions of fact and law that are similar or related to all Class Members;
70. These facts demonstrate that it would be impractical, if not impossible, to contact each individual Class Member to obtain mandates and to join them in one action;
71. In these circumstances, a class action is the only appropriate procedure for all the Class Members to effectively access justice and pursue their respective rights;
72. The damages sustained by the Class Members flow, in each instance, from a common nucleus of operative facts, namely Defendant's defectively designed and/or manufactured doors and door handle mechanisms;
73. The claims of the Class Members raise identical, similar or related issues of law and fact (Article 575 (1) C.C.P.), namely:
  - a) Do the Subject Vehicles suffer from a latent design and/or manufacturing defect?

- b) Did Defendant know of this issue and fail to warn Class Members of the defect and if they knew, when they knew or should have known?
- c) Did Defendant fail to disclose material information to Class Members?
- d) Is Defendant's omission of material facts misleading and/or reasonably likely to deceive a Class Member?
- e) Is Defendant legally obligated to recall the Subject Vehicles to repair the door and/or door handle mechanisms with new non-defective replacement parts;
- f) Do the Subject Vehicles perform or not in accordance with the standard of fitness for the purposes for which the Subject Vehicles are normally used?
- g) Do the Subject Vehicles perform or not in accordance with the standard of durability for normal use for a reasonable length of time, having regard to the price, terms of the contract and conditions of use for the Subject Vehicles?
- h) Should the sale or lease contracts signed by the Class Members for the Subject Vehicles be annulled or resiliated, and should all amounts paid by the Class Members be reimbursed in full or in part?
- i) Is Defendant liable to pay compensatory and/or moral damages to the Class Members, and if so, in what amount, including without limitation for the reimbursement of the purchase or lease price (or a portion thereof), any repair costs disbursed, other disbursements incurred, loss of time, loss of use of the Subject Vehicle, embarrassment and inconvenience?
- j) Is Defendant liable to pay exemplary and/or punitive damages to the Class Members, and if so, in what amount?

74. The majority of the issues to be dealt with are issues common to every Class Member;
75. The interests of justice favor that this Application be granted in accordance with its conclusions;

NATURE OF THE ACTION AND CONCLUSIONS SOUGHT

76. The action that the Plaintiff wishes to institute for the benefit of the Class Members is an action in damages, product liability, consumer protection and injunctive relief;
77. The facts alleged herein appear to justify the conclusions sought by the Plaintiff (Article 575 (2) C.C.P.), namely the following conclusions that Plaintiff wishes to introduce by way of an originating application:

interest of the Class Members and is determined to lead the present file until a final resolution of the matter, the whole for the benefit of the Class Members;

- f. has given the mandate to the undersigned attorneys to obtain all relevant information to the present action and intends to keep informed of all developments;
- g. has given the mandate to the undersigned attorneys to post the present matter on their firm website in order to keep the Class Members informed of the progress of these proceedings and in order to more easily be contacted or consulted by said Class Members;
- h. conducted online research and created a Facebook page on this issue, as mentioned above, and communicated with many Class Members, which permitted Plaintiff to already compile the Exhibit R-6 list of Class Members;
- i. is, with the assistance of the undersigned attorneys, ready and available to dedicate the time necessary for this action and to collaborate with other Class Members and to keep them informed;

80. The present Application is well founded in fact and in law.

GRANT the present Application;

AUTHORIZE the institution of a class action in the form of an originating application in damages, product liability, consumer protection, and injunctive relief;

APPOINT the Plaintiff as the Representative Plaintiff representing all persons included in the Class herein described as:

- h) Should the sale or lease contracts signed by the Class Members for the Subject Vehicles be annulled or resiliated, and should all amounts paid by the Class Members be reimbursed in full or in part?
